

"MONEY AND RAILROADS IN CONSPIRACY"

MILK ORDINANCE PASSED-LAST ACT OF OLD COUNCIL

PROVIDES FULL MEASURES FOR PROTECTION OF ALL CITIZENS.

ADJOURN SINE DIE

Old Council Dies Without a "Swan Song" by Three Retiring Aldermen.

Janesville at last has an ordinance regulating the sale of milk and cream and providing for licensing of dealers.

Passage of the ordinance which has been pending for four months was effected Monday night as the surprise feature of the final meeting of the old council. Alderman D. Horn, of the first ward, secured credit for the ordinance through the aid of the three retiring aldermen.

There was little else of importance at the closing session. The meeting adjourned sine die at 9:30 o'clock without a "swan song" from the three retiring aldermen—W. J. Lauck, Louis Kersch and W. J. Lauck. Just before adjournment, the council by a rising vote passed Alderman Horn's resolution thanking the outgoing councilmen for their work and cooperation. There was handshaking with the three retiring officials following the session.

Ends Long Controversy
After weeks of work on the part of the board of health, city health officials and several councilmen, the milk ordinance was finally drafted and presented last January but frequent adjournments of that action on the measure led to the belief that the old council would never pass it. It was brought up for discussion Monday night by Alderman Horn, who declared:

"Other cities have milk ordinances and I don't see any reason why Janesville should not have laws to protect the citizens from getting the scum of milk."

VIVIANI HOPEFUL AFTER U. S. VISIT

Reports to France That Prospects of U. S. Cooperation in Europe Are Good.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington.—René Viviani leaves America this week to report to France and Europe generally that the prospects of American cooperation in Europe are not as dim as the outside world has been led to believe. Although he would have been happy to convey an assurance that the United States will soon enter the existing League of Nations, the French statesman is well satisfied that the Harding plan of an international association can be presented with the present organization in some practical way, when the subject is ready for negotiation.

For the present, the willingness of President Harding to join the allies in signing the principal portions of the new treaty is viewed as a satisfactory start toward an entente between Europe and America. There is at any rate to be no peace treaty from which the Germans can derive encouragement or utilize as an instrument of discord among the powers assembled against her during the war. Allied solidarity will have been preserved.

There is every reason to believe that Premier Briand is well pleased with the informal assurances given by Viviani concerning policy hereafter will go along with the American administration even more harmoniously than before. The French have been advised of the American view-point and are not so inclined to despair of American co-operation. The Harding message to congress gives them hope.

Another factor of importance is the French press. It is being made to appear abroad, for instance, that Ambassador Jusserand has not been the French government closely informed and last week in particular there was an outburst of criticism against Mr. Jusserand for his alleged failure to cable the Harding message to Paris promptly. The impression which has been carefully cultivated is that there should be a change in ambassadors here.

Former Premier Viviani will tell the people in France and the government in particular a different story. He will advise them that America has proceeded properly in not trying to force the French viewpoint on the world in the midst of a tense political situation wherein international issues were a subject of partisan dispute. The fact that the French newspapers did not get copies of the Harding message in time, and their editors are something for which it is contended that Mr. Jusserand ought not to be blamed. Indeed, delays are due to congested cables. If the French press is not to be misled, the Harding message promptly, the fault is partially that of the American government which heretofore has supplied foreign governments with such documents by radio or cable and has made it unnecessary for diplomats to send the same communications abroad. The incident illustrates the need of such policy as was begun during the war when the committee on public information was in existence and when every American document bearing on foreign policy was sent broadcast by radio and cable—a relatively slight expense to the American government and a simple way to get attention for American happenings which rarely get space in the foreign press.

Jump at Conclusions
The French newspapers have lately been complicating the situation by their utter inability to comprehend the situation in America. They endeavor to editorialize with only a scant knowledge of the facts and whenever developments occur which abruptly reverse what has been their understanding of the American position, irritation is apt to manifest itself and the French government or the French ambassador to the United States become scapegoats.
Unquestionably the return of Mr. Viviani to France and the permanent stay in America of such a skillful reporter as Marcel Klotz, director of the French information service, will clear the clouds of misunderstanding and enable the French press to assist in the betterment of Franco-American relations. Mr. Viviani's visit has been of tremendous importance to France, and the results of his mission will become more apparent after his return than they are at the moment.

San Francisco.—Sun Yat Sen, recently elected president of China, has decided to resign, word received here said.

The recommendation made by Hayes-McIntire-Hayes, cement contractors, in making a report on sidewalk and curb work done last year as official city builders. The report showed about 40 jobs completed on a total of 24,410 square feet of sidewalk. Owing to the 20-day period wait on each order to build a sidewalk, the company could not get started until July 14, 1920, the report stated. Bids for the 1921 concrete work for the city are now being received.

$15,000 to Water Dept.
A check for $15,274.75 was written Tuesday by the city treasurer and sent in favor of the city water department for sums collected in the toll as follows: Water mains, $13,617.25; water bills, $423.22; water meters, $1,500.00; interest on water bonds, $1,500.00. Vouchers $25 to $91 were approved.

Board to Act.
As the next step in condemnation proceedings on Lincoln street in the vicinity of Riverside Park to provide a right-of-way for the proposed Blackhawk sewer, the board of public works was ordered to get valuations of property affected. It was ordered that Street Commissioner Thomas McKinnon be authorized to get valuations of property affected by the proposed sewer extension in the City of Janesville. City Engineer C. V. Kerch explained that in one place, if grading were not done, the sewer would be six feet in the air.

INQUIRER LEARNS ABOUT PARACHUTES

"The diameter of a parachute is from 25 to 30 feet," a parachute which would hold ten men would have an area ten times as great as that for one man, writes the Janesville Gazette information bureau at Washington by Frederick Haskins. "The diameter would not necessarily be ten times as great because in forming a parachute rounds and consequently there would be more exposed area on a big parachute than on a little one."

Answering a query regarding the status of children born in the United States of parents of foreign birth who are not naturalized, the Bureau states that all children born in the United States are considered citizens thereof and are entitled to the same rights and privileges as all other American citizens, regardless of the nationality of their parents.

The Bureau distributed a total of 15 pamphlets on farm gardens, care of food in the home, the English sparrow, a School Child's Health Almanac and corn meal as a food during the week ending March 31.

Employer Responsible for Accidents to Workers

Madison.—The legislature has adopted a definite policy making the employer responsible for the safety of his employees at his place of employment, states George F. Hambrecht, chairman of the Industrial commission, in an article on "The Responsibility for Industrial Accident Prevention" in the Wisconsin Society Review. The industrial commission, through its staff of deputies, tries to advise and assist employers in accident prevention, but the employer himself must be over on the alert and must keep himself informed of all the requirements of the laws of the state, and see that those requirements are complied with. Mr. Hambrecht declares, "If an accident happens, due to the failure of an employer to comply with a safety law or order, the workman's compensation act awards the injured employee a 15 per cent increase in compensation, which falls upon the employer himself, and not upon his insurance carrier."

CUPID'S VICTIMS ARE SERIOUS WHEN GETTING LICENSE

Watching the hundreds of couples who make applications for marriage licenses at the Rock county court house has convinced the county officials of one thing—the supposedly happy and romantic couples seldom smile or laugh while the license application is being made.

Generally they are most solemn, dignified—or an attempt at dignity—while being asked the questions listed on the applications.

They never laugh and seldom smile. On top of that the handwriting of the signatures is generally shaky, penned with a nervous hand.

They approach the counter in the office of the county clerk in a most cautious manner. They are rather hesitant and ask about licenses in a rather apologetic manner.

Why? No one seems to know or be able to fathom the reason. Those who issue the applications know the minute they appear inside the doors that they are after a marriage application. They have a significant appearance and they never smile.

After the suspense is over and the license form made out, they hurry away in all haste, and most of the time walk down the long court house park walks arm-in-arm and both smiling.

SERVICE

The old motto of "Take care of number one" is obsolete—To succeed today your motto must spell "Service."

Great service, generally speaking, brings great reward. He who is ambitious to succeed must learn how he can best serve. How he can fit himself to earn high reward, how, in short, he can make himself useful beyond the ordinary to his fellowman.

These same servants of the public even though they invariably amass fortunes for themselves and those who believe in them, are subjected to the most severe and unkind criticism by the General Public. But these men of the past were different from their fellow man. First because they had a vision and Second because they had the courage of their conviction, courage enough to make them deaf to the criticisms and scoffs of others, courage enough to believe in the future and courage enough to win, and with their winning they served mankind.

In the early days of the Ford when a block at a time was long riding and the public was ever ready to scoff and criticize, most men would have developed woebly spines and buckled. Ford didn't and his success gave pleasure to the untold millions. A Service.

When R. E. Olds attempted day after day to make First Street hill up to Jefferson avenue, Detroit, the crowds laughed and gaped him—so Mr. Olds told me himself—But did he care? Certainly not. He profited, and so did the world.

Edison has made as high as fifty thousand experiments in perfecting just one patent. If the world had known of that at the forty-fifth thousandths test, how many would have believed with Edison up to the fifty thousandths time, and success. Yet Edison has practically lighted the world—Service.

It took the first Cyrus McCormack from 1831 to 1849 before he could sell his first reaper, nine years—during which time he was jeered at and laughed to scorn, but McCormack knew, and through the years between then and now the reaper has led the march of civilization—A Service. The McCormacks are worth millions. The people believing in the future have profited likewise.

It is with a spirit of service to Janesville and community this article is written—Naturally it will be criticized. Well, what if it is—Here's some more facts—Dull times have always offered exceptional opportunity for those capable of seeing, seizing, and taking advantage of opportunity.

Back in 1873 Henry C. Frick, when failure swept the country like a typhoon, instead of losing his head and joining the stampede, borrowed every dollar he could lay hands on, bought coke lands, backed up his judgment by building coke ovens and when he died was rated the second richest man in America. Frick performed a Service.

Today people of Janesville have what is believed by many big business-men, an opportunity of a life time—Yet how many appreciate it. As you read on, think hard before you answer these questions: Do you believe in the United States and its people? England said it would take two years—this country did it in six months. That same spirit has made the United States the greatest manufacturing nation in the world. Do you believe there is any force that can demoralize business in this country indefinitely? You know you don't. The best brains in the country are preparing for a great business era in the near future and when business gain is rushing, where will there be a place with a better future than Janesville?

Henry Ford, in this month's American, gives his idea of the future of the Tractor and Farm Implement Business; he says of his tractor, ten million dollars went the first crack, but we will get it all back—the horse positively will be supplanted on the farm just as he has been on the road, and Ford is backing that belief with millions.

The second greatest Corporation in the world has a tractor plant. Where? in Janesville. One of the greatest credit managers in the country told me this week that the farmers were starting to buy some all over the country, with the exception of the Dakotas and Montana, and believes heavy buying will begin this fall. His judgment is worth something. He passed on $250,000,000.00 of credit last year. This is also true, Bankers, Brokers, Manufacturers, Credit Men, and large Real Estate Operators, no matter what their immediate opinion is, all agree that in twelve months business will be booming. If so, the factories of the great cities will absorb the labor—and the solution of the farm is motive power—Isn't that true?

Now what will happen here? Have you tried to rent a house in Janesville lately?—Well, if you have you know it can't be done. The war has six calls on my office yesterday, and no house. But the people will have to have homes—Where will they buy? Past experience of selling to thousands of employees has taught this—They will buy first on transportation, where they have direct conveyance to and from their work—study the map of any city and you will find development always follows the main arteries of transportation—They will buy where the land is high and dry—They will buy where natural beauty abounds—They figure in minutes not miles when they buy home sites. The property between Janesville and Beloit offers one of the best opportunities for the investor in this country. Yet very few people have even tried to analyze the situation. If you read Joseph D. Day's article on what kind of land to buy in the American Magazine of March you will be convinced. Mr. Day sells upward to one hundred million dollars worth of Real Estate a year all over the country. The people who think and want to profit thereby, call or write Hugh H. Gallunau and he will show you pictures of the developments of some of America's greatest industries from the first factory employing two men to the present one of forty-two thousand, for example. Believe in the United States, the Administration, and Janesville, and you will win. If your neighbor knocks, ask him what he knows.

FIRE COMMISSION HEAD QUILTS POST

Nowlan Hands Resignation to Mayor Welsh—Sutherland Named Successor

Harry O. Nowlan, president of the fire and police commission, presented his resignation from that body in a letter to Mayor Welsh Monday. He had been absent from the city for some time on account of a farm near Koshkonong as the reason for asking to be relieved of the office.

George C. Sutherland was immediately appointed to the office by Mayor Welsh and it is felt probable he will accept. Mr. Sutherland was a leading member of the fire and police commission a number of years ago and has always taken an active interest in the work of both departments.

Another appointment to the commission is to be announced by the mayor Tuesday night.

The organization meeting of the commission will be held Wednesday night when Mayor Welsh will make a plan for the board to meet regularly and be more active than it has been the past 15 months.

SUCCESS OF BILL FOR COUNTY COMMISSION RULE IS PREDICTED

Madison—Final passage of the Sumnerville bill providing for substitution of county commission government for county boards at the option of the voters, was practically assured Tuesday afternoon by the action of the senate by sending it to engrossment and third reading. Indefinite postponement had been recommended by the committee on state affairs.

The bill providing for additional county agricultural agencies was finally passed and went to the governor for his signature.

The substitution of county commission government for county boards by the state from its conservation fund, was killed in the assembly when the Burke bill was non-concurred in without debate and without a roll call. It had been sent to engrossment and third reading almost unanimously. The measure represented a step toward a complete program of reorganization in Wisconsin.

Assemblyman J. M. Grams stated that the measure was brought in a resolution condemning the common council of Milwaukee for its refusal to extend a welcome to General Pershing when he visited the city.

The measure was referred to the judiciary committee.

The assembly is preparing to backwater on its stand in favor of county placing in the hands of the communicable diseases, including smallpox, diphtheria, and scarlet fever. A motion was made by Assemblyman Prescott to reconsider the vote by which the measure was passed unanimously last Friday.

Land values of less than $10,000, as well as improvements will be exempt from taxation if a bill introduced by Assemblyman G. M. Grams should be enacted into law. Values in excess of $10,000 pay a graduated tax of from 1 1/2 to 1 per cent upwards.

LAKOTAS TO PLAY BASEBALL SERIES

Plans for a baseball series between the single and married men of the Lakota club were formed at the regular meeting Monday night. The games will be played at a series of four summer picnics to be held monthly starting in May. The following were appointed on the picnic committee: Joseph J. Denning, chairman; Matt Cullen, Philip Lee, Arthur Karberg, and Robert Johnston.

It was voted to extend loaning privileges of the club to members of the factory and office. City team Arthur Schwinn and Marvin Dudley were voted in as new members and Carl Schoof was sworn into membership.

The Lakota orchestra is back from Ripon where it played at a formal party of the Ozark club.

MAY BUY TRAILERS FOR GARBAGE WORK

Three horse-drawn dump trailers will probably be bought by the city for the collection of garbage scheduled to begin May 15 under the new ordinance providing for general city collection without cost. The proposed trailer has a capacity of one and one-half tons and is put out by the Edgerton Highway Trailer company.

Plans for the purchase of the three trailers were taken up at a joint meeting of the board of health and finance committee Monday night. It was decided to let the matter lay over until May 2 when the new council will have its first meeting after organizing.

The three trailers would cost the city about $4,000.

PAYS $31 FOR HIS ATTACK ON BOARDER

Henry Lorick, Racine street, was fined $20 and costs in municipal court Tuesday morning for attacking Municipal Judge Charles Lange, serving in the absence of Judge H. L. Maxfield, who is in Chicago. The total fine was $31.45.

The court found Lorick guilty of having assaulted his boarder, Alvin Kasperer, December 6 in a "kukultik" growing out of Kasperer's alleged presumption of rights as head of the Lorick household. Dist. Atty. S. G. Dunneville appeared for Kasperer and Charles Enslow for Lorick. Herbert Hensel, a farmer, was a witness.

8,000 THROUG TO VIEW EXPOSITION

girls; dramatic conversation by Mrs. Letha Litscher's high school class; recitation by Adolphe Fuchs, coached by Miss Eulalia Drew; a talk on "The Rights of the American Citizen" by Mrs. A. W. Amfield; interpretive dance by the kindergarten of the Douglas school; an operetta, "Rose Bud," by the model school pupils; songs by the Jefferson kindergarten; songs by eighth grade of Jefferson school; boys' quartet of the high school; folk dances by the Washington school; interpretive dance by Dorothy Grubb, Dorothy Jensen and Muriel Lauson; gym exercises by members of Miss Fuchs' classes; French songs and orchestra by members of Miss Isabel Stover's class in costume; drumming by Don Richards of the Jefferson school kindergarten; and French breakfast scene by members of Miss Stover's French class.

New Program Tuesday.

An entirely new program containing many interesting and novel features, two high school plays that promise to be the best numbers of the exposition, will be presented Tuesday afternoon and evening.

One of the many things for the aid of these attending was the nursery in charge of the kindergarten teachers.

High school booths were on the second floor, in the rooms and hallways. The manual training booth showed many examples of wood-working and drawing. Posters and gruffs showed the work by pupils taking mathematics and problems in the geometry and trigonometry.

The history booth was one of the most entertaining and instructive of all. Posters of "Ancient and Medieval History" in English and Latin were on display. Models of the battle of the Marston, the battle of the Tewkesbury, and the battle of the Tewkesbury were on display. Models of the battle of the Marston, the battle of the Tewkesbury, and the battle of the Tewkesbury were on display.

English Booth Instructive.

The English booth, in charge of Miss Eulalia Drew, showed many examples of work on the themes, booklets, posters urging people to use good English. One of the features of this booth were the dramatic plays representing the characters in the "Last of the Mohicans."

A thousand free copies of the weekly issue of "Zip," the school paper, were distributed. They contained the program and other articles about the exposition. Other articles about the exposition were distributed.

On the third floor, in the gym and other high school and all the grade school booths. In the center is the Parent-Teachers' headquarters, where all guests are received and the most interesting of the exposition is held. The kindergarten booth is attractively decorated. Separate booths for each of the grade schools show the variety of work being done and illustrations of work from each grade, kindergarten up, are given.

Wireless Set Shown.

The minor science and major science booths draw large crowds. A wireless set in operation, a clock in operation, and the chemicals made in the chemistry class made a good appearance. Flowers, fish, plants, crabs and a human skeleton in the minor science booth show the material worked with by members of the botany, biology, and physiology classes.

Facts concerning enrollment and the system of running the exposition were on exhibition in the administration booth.

"Yesterday and Tomorrow."

One of the most interesting booths to the parents is the "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" booth, which shows the progress of the city from old days to the present. Pictures of children now in kindergarten and a colored drawing of the high school soon to be built are the means of showing "Tomorrow."

The language booth, in which is the model of the Roman Forum and center of ancient days of civilization, with Greco-Latin costumes, is a great attraction. Pretty girls in French costumes are ready to explain the work being done by the French classes.

Of Interest to Farmers.

A poor and good breakfast, dressers, engine models, typewriting and woodworking models are all shown in the vocational school booth. Milk and butter making is done here by the boys of the agriculture department. Live chickens can be seen here. Speed and accuracy tests are shown by girls in the commercial department.

Cakes, cookies, pies, puddings and a great variety of good things to eat are shown by the domestic science classes. The work, being supervised by the city and country nurse is shown by posters.

The high school orchestra played during the afternoon and evening in the gym and tea was served on the third floor to visitors.

GYPSY LAD ILL, FATE OF DYNASTY OF TRIBE HANGS

Detroit—Whether the "dynasty" of the tribe of Demitro, one of the oldest gypsy houses in America is broken, depends on the fate of 8-year-old John Demitro for recovery from pneumonia. The lad is critically ill.

John, the only heir in line to the title besides his father, Ephraim, is the one concern of 1,641 families in the U. S. and Canada, whose king is Zitho, the boy's grandfather.

The aged chieftain, who inherited his title from his father in Serbia, has spent eight years in the U. S. and Canada, and during that time many others of the tribe have visited him, some coming from New York, New Orleans, Chicago, and San Francisco.

EAST SEES EARLY BUSINESS REVIVAL

Heavy Advertising Indicative of Better Conditions, Says Golden Eagle Buyer.

A revival of all business within the next 30 or 50 days is predicted for the entire country by manufacturers in the east, according to Guy Bridges of the Golden Eagle, this city, upon his return from a 10 days' buying trip to New York. The note of optimism is so great, he states, that he booked the largest orders he has ever given for his concern in women's wearing apparel and other ready to wear goods.

Declaring that he visited 250 manufacturers and dealers during his visit, Mr. Bridges stated that the prevailing note is one of distinct confidence in a quick return to normal. Orders are being placed now, he said, for full delivery.

Advertising is heavier. "Retailers everywhere are fast becoming convinced," he remarked, "that they must take less profit and depend upon a faster turnover. There must also be more newspaper advertising. You would be surprised to see the 'cheap' style of ads that the big stores of New York, Philadelphia and other cities of the east are using. They are going in for heavy, black type in quoting prices and mentioning sales."

The fact that is held in President Harding's speech to Congress was published in the "New York Times" and that it is a good thing that the program, the country will get back to normal in 30 to 60 days.

City is Retail Center, Janesville.

"I have been in Janesville for the last 12 hours and I would have expected the biggest Saturday sales in our history. This city is in a fortunate position. It is a good retail center and as soon as the people realize that 'prices are right,' they certainly will pay more than they have been."

AGED WANDERER IS CARED FOR HERE AFTER LONG WALK

Seaton, and his home as Adams, Pa., explaining that he came north as far as Chicago on account of the low wages being paid in the south.

He claimed to police that he walked from Chicago to Janesville, complaining of being ill Tuesday, he was examined by Dr. J. P. Pember, who asked Seaton to come to the hospital to have him committed to the county poor farm for a few days to allow him to recuperate.

Twenty-four others slept in the "lock up" Monday night and enjoyed the Elks' breakfast Tuesday morning.

The Big Town Round Up

"I'll ask Mr. Bromfield to give you fifty dollars again," she laughed nervously.
That word again stuck in his consciousness.
"You've known me all along," he charged.
"Of course I've known you—knew you when you stood on the steps after you had tied the janitor."

"I knew you, too."
"Why didn't you say so?"
"Did you expect me to make that grandstand play on the parade, to claim on your knees?" I didn't do a thing for you that day any man wouldn't have done. I happened to be the lucky fellow that got the chance. That's all. Come to that, it was up to you to do the recognizing if any was done. I had it worked out that you didn't know me, but once or twice from things you said I almost thought you did."
"I meant to tell you sometime, but well, I wanted to see how long you could keep from telling me. Now you've done it again!"
"I'd like to play with you the rest of your life," he said unexpectedly. They trembled on the edge of self-revelation. It was the girl who rescued them from the expression of their emotions.
"I'll speak to Clara about it. Maybe she'll take you on as a groom," she said with surface lightness.
As soon as they reached home

Beatrice led the way into the library. Bromfield was sitting there with her father. They were talking over plans for the annual election of officers of the Bird Cage Mining company. Whitford was the largest stockholder and Bromfield owned the next biggest stock. They controlled it between them.
"Dad, Rob Roy bolted and Mr. Lindsay stopped him before I was thrown."
Whitford rose, the color ebbing from his cheeks. "I've always told you that brute was dangerous. I'll offer him for sale today."

"And I've discovered that we know the man who saved me from the wild steer in Arizona. It was Mr. Lindsay!"
"Lindsay! Whitford turned to him. 'Is that right?'"
"Yes, correct."

Colin Whitford, much moved, put a hand on the young man's shoulder. "Son, you know what I'd like to tell you. I reckon I can't say it right now. 'Well, consider it, Mr. Whitford,' answered Clay with his quick, boyish smile. 'No use in spillin' a lot of dictionary words.'"
"Why didn't you tell us?"
"It was nothing to brag about," Bromfield came to time with a thin word of thanks. "We're all greatly in your debt, Mr. Lindsay."

As the days passed the malicious jealousy of the New York clubman deepened to a steady hatred. A fellow of ill-controlled temper, his thin-skinned vanity wrinkled at the contradiction which confronted him. He was engaged to a girl who preferred another and a better man, one against whom he had an unbreakable grudge. He recognized in the Westerner an eager enemy, a clean-cut resilience, and an abounding vitality he would have given a great deal to possess. His own early manhood had been frittered away in futile dissipation and he resented bitterly the contrast between himself and Lindsay that must continually be present in the mind of the girl who had promised to marry him. It was a bad many cautious things to offer her—such advantages as modern civilization had made desirable to housewife women—but he could not give the clean, splendid youth she craved. It was the price he had paid for many sybaritic pleasures he had been too soft to deny himself.

Billy Whiskers

Mirrored upon myriads of electric light bulbs, the face of Billy found himself after the terrible journey through the dark passage. Wonder upon wonder was revealed and everywhere were queer, grotesque shapes, some were giants, others were dwarfs. Part were exceedingly tall, with necks stretching out like the giraffe at the zoo, long arms and dangling hands, faces narrow, chin pointed and nose long, enough to put into the business of the whole world. Some, on the other hand, were only two feet tall, but, strange to relate, they were as fat as the tall persons were lean—as fat as the man in the song:

"He's six feet one way, two feet tadder,
An' his coat won't go half way round."

"Pudge, I call 'em," decided Billy with a wag of the head, turning around to take a complete inventory of the room and its occupants. He brought up with a jerk, however, when he discovered his German woman immediately behind him. In excited conversation with another creature exactly like her.

Violently she gesticulated with her large, green-colored umbrella, and just as violently did her counterpart wave her rainstick and nod her head.
"Got you look like me for sh?" the angry woman inquired. "Ain't you any sense got? I vent hill up and hill down, to get here and you come fun to make me mad. Everybody they just laugh and laugh at me all day, and I won't haf it any more yet. You are Sherman, too, so then for, why do you laugh?"

"There's just one time that I wish I had been made a boy instead of a goat. Ordinarily, goats have much better times than boys, but when I laugh so hard my fat sides ache, I wish for a pair of hands that I might hold the way the Great boys do when they're mighty tickled. I'm sure I could laugh both harder and longer and enjoy it much more with such a convenience as hands about me," thought Billy, as he watched this by-play, a broad grin spreading over his face.

"Oh, Maggie, Maggie, don't you know your own seester any more? How then you haf got? Been seek since I went away from home. Maggie, this your own lovin' Barbara you see," putting out her arms to welcome her in a warm embrace.
"Ha, ha, ha, ha," laughed Billy uproariously. "It takes the Germans to get angry. Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, she's trying to hug her own image!"
"Such a goose as she is!" chuckled Billy in delight. "I shall not miss a thing of it—O-o-o-h!" he murmured, changing to wonder, for there peeping behind the skirts of the second woman was a handsome goat, whose coat was as white, whose horns were as long and well shaped, whose very whiskers were as white as Billy's own.

(Can you guess who the other goat is? The next story will tell you.)

USEFUL BIRD CITIZENS

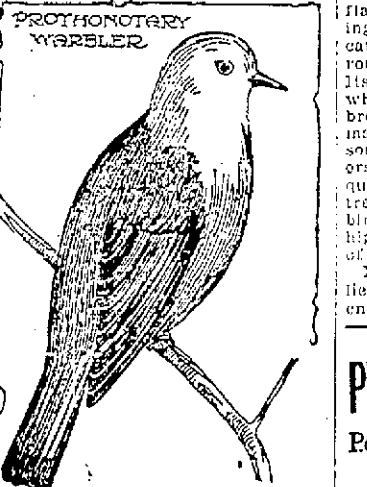

BY J. HAMMOND BROWN

PROTHONOTARY WARBLER.

Size.—A little smaller than the sparrow.
Plumage.—Whole head, neck and underparts, rich orange (paler in female). Back, greenish yellow, changing to bluish gray on the wings. Irides, brown. Bill, dusky. No wing bar.
Range.—Breeds from Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, central Delaware and Maryland south to Texas and northern Florida. Winter from Nicaragua to Colombia.
This chap prefers the swamps.

The Prothonotary Warbler is a bird of the damp woods and the back waters of a running stream or river.

The valleys of the Mississippi river and its tributaries are its chief breeding grounds, although by no means is it an uncommon sight in the region around the Dismal Swamp of Virginia. Once seen it is never forgotten, as there is no other bird with such a flaming headpiece, its brilliant coloring being all the more prominent because of the liquid shadows of its surroundings. It is restless to a degree, its continual search after insects, which forms its complete menu, is broken only occasionally when the male will mount high up to the top of some tree and there prove his feathers in the sun. His rather inconspicuous song is also delivered from the tree tops. At all other times it is a bird of terrestrial habits, rarely going higher than the low bushes in search of food.

Miss Prothonotary evidently believes that it is best to "let the women do the work," until the female

PIMPY? WELL, DON'T BE
People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

Time to Face the Facts

"So much has been said against the use of patent medicines that I have had a strong prejudice against them. But after four years doctoring with six different doctors, without results, for acute indigestion, and other ailments, I have said to myself, 'I'm discouraged to try May's Wonderful Remedy, seeing what it had done for a friend similarly afflicted. I also was entirely relieved of my trouble, and I am sure this medicine will do it.' It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allows the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Why You Must Have Iron to Make Your Body Strong and Your Brain Keen

Alert and Powerful—Value of Spirach and Organic Iron to Help Make Rich Red Blood and Revitalize Wornout Exhausted Nerves

WITH PLENTY OF BLOOD AND IRON, YOUR BRAIN is the most wonderful thing in all creation but without these it is nothing. IRON TAKES OXYGEN from your lungs and carries it to your brain. Without iron your brain gets no oxygen; and without plenty of rich red blood and oxygen your brain becomes dull and heavy. YOUR INTELLECT POOR, your memory fails, YOU DO FOOLISH THINGS, make bad decisions and you really amount to nothing, so far as accomplishing anything of importance is concerned.

Also without iron YOUR BLOOD BECOMES THIN AND WATERY and loses its power to change food into living cells and tissue and therefore nothing you eat does you the proper amount of good—you do not get the full strength out of it.

THERE ARE 30,000,000,000,000 RED BLOOD CORPUSCLES IN YOUR BLOOD AND EACH ONE MUST HAVE IRON.

When, as a result of iron starvation you get up feeling tired in the morning, when you find iron in spinach, lentils and apples, while iron is just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron. Organic iron may be had from your druggist under the name of NUXATED IRON. Nuxated Iron represents organic iron in such a highly concentrated form that one dose is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in organic iron content) to eating half a quart of spinach or one quart of green vegetables. It is like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. For sale by all druggists.

ENRICHES THE BLOOD—GIVES YOU NEW STRENGTH AND ENERGY.

falls all the labor of nest building and feeding of the young.

While in most cases the nest is placed in a natural cavity in stump or old tree, there have been reported instances when pairs have nested in empty holes in outbuildings and one instance when a Bluebird nest was utilized. It is also claimed that in rare instances, a hole will be dug out by the birds themselves in the soft wood of an old stump in approved woodpecker fashion.

Dinner Stories

A well known racing and hunting man had an old gardener who was the bone of his life. One day his employer's patience gave way. Tim told him that he must leave the garden.
He carried up potatoes, and remarked stolidly that he considered it his place to remain.

"Go to!" out of that!" stormed his master.

The old man leaned on his spade handle. "An' if I do, Master Harry," he said, "I'll just tell yer father how ye've treated me!"

The senator was back home, looking after his political fence, and was asking the minister about some old acquaintances.

"How's old Mr. Jones?" he inquired. "Will I be likely to see him today?"
"You'll never see Mr. Jones again," said the minister. "Mr. Jones has gone to heaven."

Mr. O'Brien was having heavy going on a slippery pavement in the days before prohibition. He slipped and sat down with force right in front of a judge who happened to know him.

"O'Brien," said the judge, "sinners stand on slippery ground."

"So, I see judge," answered O'Brien. "But it's more than I can do."

AGED FARMER'S 10 YEAR SEARCH BRINGS REWARD

"I have been experimenting for ten years," said Rudolph Raether, 62 years, a well known farmer, living on R. F. D. No. 4, Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., and prominent member of the Lutheran Church here. "During that time I have tried everything in the way of medicines and treatments in an effort to regain my health. Not, however, until I took two bottles of Kozak did I get my permanent relief."

"Why I got so weak and rundown as a result of Catarrh of the stomach and sat down with force right in front of a judge who happened to constantly. I did not know what a good night's sleep was until I took Kozak. My food turned to gas causing pain and distress. Then, along came a friend who recommended Kozak. At last I had found just what I needed. I now have a dandy appetite, sleep good and feel strong and vigorous once more. I am going to take another bottle or so so I am sure it is making a new man of me." Kozak is sold here exclusively by People's Drug Store, Jackman Bldg., Edgerton, Atwell-Dallman; Monroville, Clark. COUNCIL DECLARES BOOST FOR TEAM; OPENER ON FRIDAY

City councilmen at their meeting Monday night unanimously passed a resolution favoring a general holiday in the city on Friday afternoon for the opening game of the Fractor City baseball club. The resolution contained a request that Mayor Thomas E. Welsh issue a proclamation asking all business places to close during the afternoon. The motion was offered by Ald. W. J. Hill.

The first game of the season will be against the Milwaukee Lake Shore club. This outfit consists of practically all ex-lig longers. They will play here Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

It is hoped that all retail stores, business houses and factories will shut down for the afternoon. The plans are to start the season off bigger than a year ago because the business men are gathered at the fair grounds and gave the team a howling send-off.

Disruption of the high school interclass baseball schedule was caused Monday by the results of Saturday's storm. The game looked between the Freshmen and the Sophomores was postponed. The game between the Juniors and Seniors set for Tuesday afternoon is put over until a later date. There is doubt whether the Varsity-Faculty game for Wednesday afternoon, can be played.

All postponed games are due to be run off during the week of May 9 to 12.

NATIONAL GOLF COURSE IS MORE HAZARDOUS

St. Louis—Players new to the course will encounter one of the most difficult links in the country when the National Amateur Championship opens at the St. Louis Country Club, in September. In the opinion of local golfers, changes in construction recently started will "saw up" every green, so that roll-ups are practically impossible, forcing the contestants to drop onto the respective greens, and with a minimum roll.

All but three of the holes will be affected. It is expected that the new penalties will make the course probably four or five strokes more difficult than formerly. Additional traps and trees are being built throughout, requiring greater accuracy and distances.
